DOCUMENT DELIVERY SERVICES TO INDIVIDUALS

The National Agricultural Library (NAL) has a unique responsibility to supply copies of agricultural materials not found elsewhere.

Filling requests for materials readily available from other sources would divert NAL's resources and diminish its ability to serve as a national source for agricultural and agriculturally related materials. Therefore, NAL should be viewed as a library of last resort and individuals should submit requests first to local or state sources prior to sending to NAL. In the United States, possible sources are public libraries, land-grant university or other large research libraries within a state. Individuals in other countries should submit requests through major university, national, or provincial institutions.

If the needed publications are not available from these sources, the requests may be submitted to NAL with a statement indicating their non-availability. Submit one request per page following the instructions for libraries below.

NAL's DOCUMENT DELIVERY SERVICE INFORMATION FOR THE LIBRARY

The following information is provided to assist your librarian in obtaining the required materials.

LOAN SERVICE – Materials in NAL's collection are loaned only to other U.S. libraries. Requests for loans should be made through local public, academic, or special libraries.

The following materials are not available for loan: serials (except USDA serials); rare, reference, and reserve books; microforms; and proceedings of conferences or symposia. Photocopy or microform of non-circulating publications may be purchased as described below.

DOCUMENT DELIVERY SERVICE – Photocopies of articles are available for a fee. Requests must be made through local public, academic, or special libraries. The library should submit a separate interlibrary loan form for each article or item requested. If the citation is from an NAL database (CAIN/AGRICOLA, Bibliography of Agriculture, or the NAL Catalog) and the call number is given, that call number should be listed in the proper block on the request form. Willingness to pay charges must be indicated on the form. Compliance with copyright law or a statement that the article is for "research purposes only" must be included on the interlibrary loan form. Requests cannot be processed without these statements.

Charges:

- Photocopy, hard copy of microfilm and microfiche – $5.00 for the first 10 pages or fraction copied from a single article or publication. $3.00 for each additional 10 pages or fraction.
- Duplication of NAL-owned microfilm – $10.00 per reel.
- Duplication of NAL-owned microfiche – $ 5.00 for the first fiche and $ .50 for each additional fiche per title.

Billing – Charges include postage and handling, and are subject to change. Invoices are issued quarterly by the National Technical Information Service (NTIS), 5285 Port Royal Road, Springfield, VA 22161. Requesters are encouraged to establish deposit accounts with NTIS. DO NOT SEND PREPAYMENT.

Characteristics of mince from pond-bred silvercarp (Hypophthalmichthys molitrix) and preliminary experiments on its use in sausages.
JSFAA. Gelman, A. ; Benjamin, E. Essex : Elsevier Science Publishers. Journal of the science of food and agriculture. 1989. v. 47 (2). p. 225-241. Includes references. (NAL Call No.: DNAL 382 S012).
The quality of fresh, chilled and frozen mince made from the flesh of pond-bred silvercarp (Hypophthalmichthys molitrix (Val)) was evaluated. Flavour panel scores for all minces were acceptable and this quality did not deteriorate during storage for one week in a domestic refrigerator (5-6 degrees C) or for one year at -20 degrees C. The levels of oxidative rancidity (2-thiobarbituric acid analysis) in the minces were consistent with this maintenance of quality. Aerobic plate counts at 25 degrees C of fresh mince rose from 7.9 X 10(4) to 1.1 X 10(5) after 6 days' storage at 5-6 degrees C. Coliform and psychrotroph counts rose from 1.0 X 10(1) and 7.8 X 10(3) to 5.4 X 10(2) and 1.3 X 10(4), respectively. The functional and textural properties of pond-bred silvercarp mince in terms of salt-souble protein content, water binding capacity and penetrometer values were measured on fresh, refrigerated and frozen samples. All-fish sausages and frankfurters developed from pond-bred silvercarp mince were assessed in laboratory and consumer tests against commerical beef sausages and frankfurters. The fish products competed well and achieved levels of acceptance similar to those of the beef-containing products. Texture measurements revealed slight changes in the fish products during storage for 7 days at 5-6 degrees C. No spoilage was detected in any of the products after a week at 5-6 degrees C. The nutritional advantages of the fish sausages and frankfurters are discussed.

The proximate composition, fatty acid profiles, and the sensory characteristics of pond-raised red drum were compared to wild red drum. The proximate compositions and sensory characteristics were similar for pond-raised and wild red drum. The major difference between samples was in the fatty acid profiles. The pond-raised red drum had higher linoleic acid and lower docosahexaenoic acid concentrations than the wild fish samples. The eicosapentaenoic acid concentrations were similar in both pond-raised and wild red drum.

Abstract: An analytical study compared the fatty acid composition of lipids from edible portions of pond-reared freshwater prawn, catfish, and crayfish with that of their wild counterparts. The pond-reared fish appeared to have more omega 6 fatty acids and less omega 3 fatty acids (hence, a lower omega 3/omega 6 ratio) than the comparable wild fish. It is suggested that the omega 3 content of pond-reared fish might be increased by dietary manipulation.(wz)
